

GROUND ANCHORS

Since a couple of years, Soiltech also entered the ground anchor market. Because most building pit revetments must be anchored as well, this was a logical step in Soiltech's development. Soiltech can now execute building pit revetment projects from A to Z without having to engage subcontractors. Soiltech has different anchor installation machines at its disposal and, as such, it can install all types of anchors under most varied conditions. Soetaert's expertise covers both self-drilling bar anchors and strand anchors and also includes the tightening of strand anchors.

